Journals and Conference Proceedings

Prior to FY18, conference organizers often chose to use the Digital Commons event (conference) structure for their calls for proposals and the hosting of any conference materials. In the past two years, we have noticed that organizers prefer the journal structure and a means through which they can publish their conference materials as a polished proceedings.

In FY19, we added two new conferences to the collection of conference proceedings that we now publish as journals:

- Proceedings of the Fábos Conference on Landscape and Greenway Planning
- Building Technology Educator's Society Conference (BTES)

The Fábos organizers intend to add their previous years' proceedings to ScholarWorks over time.

With the addition of Fábos and BTES, ScholarWorks now hosts and publishes the proceedings of four scholarly societies/organizations.

Proceedings of the Society for Computation in Linguistics	7,521	11,086

In addition to its growing collection of published conference proceedings, ScholarWorks also supports three actively publishing peer-reviewed journals.

Conference and Event Hosting

Three new conferences/professional/scholarly societies chose to use ScholarWorks' traditional conference/event structure for proposal submission and presentation sharing in FY19:

- New England Library Instruction Group
- Northeast Regional OER Summit
- Rural Heritage – Landscapes and Beyond

Travel and Tourism Research Association (ttra) redesigned their conference site this year to reflect their updated society logo.

ScholarWorks supported a total of six active conferences during this year.

Looking Ahead to FY20

- Rural Heritage: Landscapes and Beyond will be launching a companion journal, ICOMOS-ISCCL Scientific Symposium Conference Proceedings, to publish the conference's accepted full-length papers.
- The NSF-funded conference, Sound Systems of Latin America 3, will publish their materials on ScholarWorks. The conference organizers have not yet migrated from the ScholarWorks demo site to the live site.
- Self-submission will be turned on for Data and Datasets.
- The continued uploading of the contents from the NIH Working Groups on African American English \(AAE\).
- Practical Assessment, Research & Evaluation \(PARE\) anticipates publishing their next issue through ScholarWorks. The editors anticipate migrating all back issues to ScholarWorks as well.
